

NSGO-CTU

Nordic Society of Gynaecological Oncology - Clinical Trial Unit

Nordic Society of Gynecological Oncology

NSGO – Clinical Trial Unit

Department of Oncology 9431, Rigshospitalet

Blegdamsvej 9

DK - 2100 Copenhagen

The position of Deputy Medical Director of CTU has been opened by NSGO - Clinical Trial Unit, for applications by NSGO members for the period 1 March 2021 to 29 February 2024.

The tasks of the Deputy Medical Director, which will be agreed with Medical Director, include but are not necessarily limited to:

- To work together with Medical Director and the Strategic Working Group of the NSGO-CTU Scientific Committee with new and planned trials as well as trial proposals (assisting in preparation of protocols and clinical trial agreements, designing trial budgets etc.)
- To assist Medical Director in interaction with the sites
- To assist Medical Director in collaboration with co-operative groups (ENGOT, GCIG, AGO, GINECO etc.)
- To familiarize her/himself with the work of the GCIG Harmonization Group

We are looking for a person, who:

- is a member of NSGO,
- is a gynecologic oncologist, a medical oncologist or a radiation oncologist with special interest in gynecologic oncology
- has considerable experience with clinical trials
- has experience in the treatment of gynecologic cancer patients
- has authored and co-authored original publications in peer-reviewed scientific journals
- is fluent in English
- is willing and able to travel to intergroup and other scientific meetings
- can be in the NSGO-CTU office in person at least once weekly

The Deputy Medical Director will have an excellent chance to networking in the gynecologic-oncological community and to training for the design and conduct of clinical trials as well as to co-authorships of scientific articles in accordance with ENGOT rules.

A compensation of up to 8 hours' salary per week will be offered.

The applications should be directed to Medical Director Mansoor Raza Mirza

(mansoor.raza.mirza@regionh.dk) along with CV and a short description on why the applicant thinks that he/she should be elected, by 31. December 2020. Job interviews are planned in the first half of January 2021. For any further information feel free to contact NSGO-CTU's Medical Director.